c. We also had a considerable discussion about the Photographic Intelligence Center and its budget problem. The Director asked me to get together with Bob Amory and Bob Macy, Bureau of the Budget, and try to reach some agreement. (I have arranged to meet with them at lunch tomorrow.)

d. In connection with the budget, I talked to Bob Amory about absorbing some of the personnel cut and he agreed to absorb his pro rata share.

e. Also in connection with the budget, Dick Bissell told the Director that he would have a paper in his hands before noon which would be responsive to the cut which the Bureau of the Budget wants to make in the IO Division as well as a paper on anticipated withdrawals from the Reserve. (As of ten o'clock on 1 December no such paper had been received.)

f. We discussed the movie "Operation Abolition" and the criticism which is being levied against it, particularly by the Washington Post. I told the Director that we had this movie, had shown it a number of times in the Agency and proposed to continue to use it for training purposes. I also reported that there was an FBI paper which supported this movie all the way, and, furthermore, that we had first-hand knowledge that most of the leading agitators were, in fact, Communists.
